Overview

I have freelanced in the design and decorating fields for several years. My experience in the design field is diverse bridging both contemporary & historical, in all facets of entertainment, television, film, and corporate. I have been responsible for budget, manage and allocate design and set decoration budgets. I have experiences implementing and collaborating with client and creative teams. Working both on film sets and the interior design projects. I oversee construction, paint, lighting, space pragmatics as well as furniture and textile decor. I have designed commercial offices for production companies interiors, custom furnishings and lighting from conception to installation. I help create, develop and manufacture elements for each project. Interfacing with client, contractors, sub contractors, manufactures and fabricators. I research and shop, selecting and negotiate rental and purchase contracts relating to all aspects of installation. As designer and decorator I have good knowledge of products, furniture, specifically as it pertains to commercial system ergonomics and contemporary interactive workplaces, retail, exhibition, hospitality and residential.

I have broad knowledge and insights allowing interpretations from one building type to another. I am a cross-disciplinary collaborator experienced as Production Designer, Set Decorator and furniture designer in Television & Film Interior Design & Decor work. I have designed a wide range of furnitures, designing, overseeing prototype to final manufacture. I worked with furniture designer as manufacturing project manager.

As the founder of Froote, a multi level design company focusing on interior décor I have a solid footing in both worlds. As a design leader I am driven toward measurable outcomes and a successful bottom line: design outcome must be linked to client, community and environmental goals, production budgets and time lines. I am a steadfast leader knowing the importance of team work and often the clients through analysis and synthesis processes, by helping to distill the most important insights and linking them together in a design framework.
